SEEKING QUARTERSOrganization of War Veterans
Starts Fund for Furnishing.

The United Service Club today is seeking permanent quarters and planning a mass meeting at which membership will be formally received.

This new organization was formed last evening at the New Willard Hotel, when representatives from practically all the veteran bodies of the District were present.

St. buildings are under consideration for quarters. It was decided to place the membership fee and dues at a nominal sum to encourage a large membership. It is estimated there are more than 5,000 persons in Washington eligible for membership. Several hundred dollars were subscribed last evening for the fund.

Gleason, department commander, Grand Army of the Republic, was elected president; Jere Costello, department commander, United Spanish War Veterans, vice president; Winfield Jones, commander General McIntyre Post, No. 15, Army of the Philippines, Cuba, and Porto Rico, secretary; and Sheridan Perce, treasurer.

A board of governors, including the following, was elected: J. K. Gleason and Major E. R. Campbell, for the Grand Army of the Republic; Jere Costello and Capt. Sheridan Perce, for the United Spanish War Veterans; Capt. B. Donnelly and Col. M. A. Winter, for the Army and Navy Union; Col. Charles H. VOTE ON TRADE BILL
MAY COME TONIGHTSenate Grinds Away on Trust
Measure While Members
Discuss War News.

With its attention much distracted by the European war news and Senators talking about the prospective war in the cloak rooms and corridors, the Senate ground away today on the trade commission bill.

Expectation is that a vote on this bill will soon be reached. It may come this evening.

Talk was renewed today of early adjournment. September 1 is thought by many to be the approximate date. That the session will not last beyond September 10 is generally admitted.

Once the trade commission bill is passed, there will be an effort to rush things on the other trust bills. Senator Pomeroy's amendment to section 5 of the trade commission bill, providing for a broad court review, and really subordinating the trade commission to the courts, was introduced today by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, and was presented as a committee amendment.

Women Battle Over
Metal Screen

Litigation to prevent Mrs. Lathrop Johnson from interfering with a metal screen erected by Mrs. Josephine H. Throckmorton between the homes of the two women was begun in the District Supreme Court today.

Mrs. Throckmorton alleges that she had the screen put up to prevent Mrs. Johnson from throwing trash, sweepings and other rubbish and debris onto her premises, and that the latter had the screen wrenched loose so that the view from her window would not be obstructed. It is claimed by Mrs. Throckmorton that the screen is on her own premises and she asks the court to prevent her neighbor from molesting it. Mrs. Throckmorton lives at 1505 F street northwest. Attorney William G. Johnson is counsel for the plaintiff.

POTOMAC MONOPOLY
SEEN IN POWER BILLCongressman Lieb Warns People
Should Keep Rights at Great Falls.

In a speech attacking the pending water power and dam bill in the House, Congressman Charles Lieb of Indiana used the Great Falls of the Potomac as an illustration of the benefits which he claims monopolistic concerns may obtain under the proposed measure.

Government ownership of a power plant at Great Falls to supply the District with electricity was urged by Lieb, who said:

"I call to members' attention as a concrete example the case of this good city of Washington. A few miles above the city there is the Great Falls of the Potomac river. Every member of the House knows the possibility of that section as to the development of water power, and further that the Potomac is navigable up to that section.

How Bill Might Work.

"Under the terms of this bill water power monopolists can secure the right to build locks and a dam at or near Great Falls of such a character as to form a pool that will make that section of the Potomac navigable. They then have a monopoly of the water power that might be developed there. This water power could then be sold in the city of Washington at a considerable profit.

"As a result, a section of the country which is not largely productive of commerce would have for the development of its commerce a navigable stream, but the people would have lost the water power right and extended special privileges to the water power monopoly. My proposal is that the Federal Government should take the dam and dam and then give to the Government of the District the water power thus created. Let the District Government derive whatever profit is to be made from the project.

Would Retain Rights.

"But the argument is advanced that the people would be compelled to bear the burden of the cost of construction. That cannot be gained. But what of lightening those burdens by means of the sale of the water power, etc. I repeat that on this basis, if the project would be carried to conclusion, we would find here a navigable river, across and better light and power facilities and ultimately, through the retention of the water power rights in the hands of the people, a lower rate of taxation.

"In my judgment, there are innumerable legal and technical weaknesses in this measure that are, of themselves, sufficient to condemn it, but I base my opposition on broad, economic ground. I say, render unto the people that which is the people's, remain true to the Democratic faith and husband for posterity the priceless heritage that is theirs. Let us not follow in the footsteps of our predecessors by creating a 'twilight zone,' where special privilege can molest the people unrestrained."
